

Dump-and-Bake Ratatouille

A vegan, hands-off ratatouille bake — just layer, drizzle, and roast until tender and caramelized.

INGREDIENTS

- 2 zucchini, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds
- 1 eggplant, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds
- 3 tomatoes, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds
- 2 bell peppers, cut into 1-inch chunks
- 1 yellow onion, sliced
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 4 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 teaspoons herbes de Provence
- 1 teaspoons salt
- 0.5 teaspoons black pepper
- 1 cups crushed tomatoes (canned)
- 0.3 cups fresh basil leaves, torn, for garnish

STEPS

1. Preheat oven: Preheat your oven to 400°F (200°C).
2. Prep the base: Spread 1 yellow onion, sliced and 4 garlic cloves, minced over the bottom of a 9x13-inch baking dish. Pour in 1 cups crushed tomatoes (canned) and spread evenly.
3. Layer the vegetables: Arrange 2 zucchini, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds, 1 eggplant, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds, 3 tomatoes, sliced into 1/4-inch rounds, and 2 bell peppers, cut into 1-inch chunks on top in alternating rows or a spiral pattern, standing the round slices on their edges if you like a decorative look.
4. Season and drizzle: Drizzle 4 tablespoons olive oil evenly over the vegetables. Sprinkle with 2 teaspoons herbes de Provence, 1 teaspoons salt, and 0.5 teaspoons black pepper.
5. Cover and bake: Cover the dish tightly with foil and bake for 40 minutes.
6. Uncover and roast: Remove the foil and continue baking uncovered until the vegetables are tender and lightly caramelized at the edges.
7. Rest and garnish: Let the bake rest for 5 minutes, then scatter 0.3 cups fresh basil leaves, torn, for garnish on top before serving.

NOTES

Serve over rice, quinoa, or crusty bread. Leftovers keep well in the fridge for 3-4 days and taste even better the next day. For extra richness, add a drizzle of good olive oil or a dollop of vegan pesto just before serving.
